The enterprising firm of Supplier & Rogers, realestate dealers, will soon occupy their new and elegant apartments, now being prepared for their use at 256 F street northwest. Report says that hey are offering as fine opportunities for invest-ments in their line as any firm in this city. A most entertaining fecture will be delivered at ne Thirty-first (Congress) Street M. P. Church on riday evening, at 7:30 o'ciock, by the paster of hat congressitor, Rev. S. B. Southeriand, D. D., he subject being: "Beyond the Sea and Back location."

Yesterday morning, about 9 o'clock, as Henry Miller, a brakesman on a freight train of the Baltimore and Potomac Raliroad, was attempting jump off at New Jersey avenue, he fell and the cheels raised over one foot. He was taken to his sidence, No. 1056 C street wouthwest, and Drs. ord and Bowman amputated the foot.

The approuncement of a trance address through the lips of Mrs. Cora L. V. Richmond, by the spirit of the late President James A. Garfield, will no oubt draw together a large andience. From the rell-known eloquence of this lady's utterances, heir spiritual exaltation, and high standard of hetorical excellence a full house on Friday even-ng at Lincoln Hali is predicted.

There is on exhibition at James J. Chapman's ok store, No. 911 Penusylvania avenue, a set of regions of resolutions relative to the death of resident Garfield, recently adopted by the Massa-clustets Republican Association of this city. The rame is made from a piece of joist taken from the elathorn from which President Garfield recited his essential of the city of the control of the

The Bortleultural Society. The Horticultural Society held their regular nonthly meeting at German Hall last evening, 'resident John Saul in the chair, and John T. C. Clark acting as secretary pro tempore. After the reading of the minutes and the transaction of the issual routine the election of officers for the en-oring year was proceeded with, and resulted as follows: John Saul, president: Thomas W. Fowler, first vice-president: Dr. Basil Norris, second vice-president: Howard L. Prince, third vice-president: John T. C. Clark, treasurer: Robert J. Fisher, corresponding secretary; Charles A. The! Winter Saratoga The ample hotel accommodations, which is one f the attractions of this city, have been taxed to their utmost this season to meet the demands of the throngs of visitors. At the present every avail-able room in all the hotels is occupied, and last evening strangers on the late trains were obliged to go from one hotel to another in search of rooms. At all the principal hotels they were met At all the principal hotels they were met with the information that there were no rooms. Even the parlors have been turned into temporary bed-rooms, and the hotel proprietors say that it is not the prices that are questioned as long as rooms can be secured. The class of people is of the very best, and they have plenty of money and know how to spend it. In addition to the crowded condition of the hotels, the boarding-houses are filled by people who have been spending the winter here. These facts show, if they indicate anything, that this city is being recognized throughout the country as a desirable and pleasant place to spend the winter. Washington can be called the winter Saratoga or Newport, and it will not be difficult to maintain this reputation. The season has been the most profitable one the hotel men have ever known, and they have nothing but words of the highest commendation of the character of the people who have been their guests.

Masonie Entertainment. The fourth of the series of musical, literary, and dancing sociables given under the auspices of the Masonic lodges—took place at the Masonic Temple last night, and was fully as largely attended as any that had proceeded it. The programme was any that had proceeded it. The programme was hardly as well chosen as the others, but it was well carried out and appeared to be highly enjoyed. At its conclusion the floor was cleared and a pro-gramme of fourteen datices was participated in by a large portion of the assemblage.

A Plensant Wedding.
Last night, at eight p. m., at Foundry M. E.
Church, Miss Annie Barrick was married to Mr. Frank Sharpless, the pastor, the Rev. William Frank Sharpiess, the pasor, the Rev. William Ward, performing the ceremony. The bride was attired in bronse green silk and brocaded satin. There were four ushers—Messre. James lyons, Hiram Doyle, George Hinton, and O. he Myer. After the wedding a reception was held at the residence of the bride's mother, where the wedding presents were displayed.

THE REV. J. F. RLDER, D. D., pastor of the Epiphany Church of New York and a member of the American Baptist Home Mission Society. Dr. Elder said that he thought it would have been better if Dr. Moorehouse had come here instead of himself, but he was very grad to meet the students and look in their faces. He had been pendering how best to represent the Hole e Missionary Society, and thought the wiest course would be to gather them into his heart and see their further need of education. When the members sinyed at home they vote money for different purposes, but by personal visits they could tell so much better just what was being done and the amount of good wrought. The interest shown by freedmen of the South in the matter of education was something wonderful; so much so that it preponderated over the West. He looked upon the colored race as one of the greatest adjuncts to the church, on account of their donlify of temper, gift of song, and ferror of religious temperament. When the negroes become a race, not as now, a mere handful; when Genille, Jew. Ethopian, and Chinaman become christianized, then he anticipated seeing the African playing an important part. He urged his auditors not to feel discouraged because they began their work late in life; and thought they had no time to learn. There was time enough in eternity. Turning to the formale students the Doctor addressed a few words to them more expecially. To read and study the Bible was urged on them, and to make the most of their advantages while at the seminary. The Bible teemed with examples of noble women. They should look forward to such hoble exemplars and try to win lasting places in the affections of their associates. He closed his remarks by swring that the words of a man associated in the saddest way with this city occurred to him as conveying a great lesson, James A. Garfield used to say "a pound of plack is worth a ton of luck," The choir them sang "Sleep and Rest."

and said he came here at the request of his friend and principal, Dr. King, who was aware of the interest he had always taken in the school. Dr. Elder, he said, had forestalled him in many things he was going to say. He would wish the students to treasure up Dr. Elder's advice and carefully live up to it. Mr. Dunnell paid a most eloquent tribute to Dr. King for his fidelity and care, and impressed on his auditors the necessity of personal effort and personal struggle, and assured them that toll was the basis of all success. DR. GREGORY, of Illinois, said he was present on invitation of Dr. Wayland. The new building was in part dedicated to Mrs. Wayland, and he desired to speak for her. The Doctor is an impressive speaker, and his remarks were listened to with rapt attention. Francis Wayland, continued the speaker, by his clear, practical, plain thought had done inestimable good toward promoting education for all classes. To Mrs. Wayland, as a co-laborer with her husband, Dr. Gregory paid a well-merited tribute. He urged the young women present to imitate her glorious example and prove themselves worthy of their position. The difficulties on account of color were of course great, and they were sensible of this. They should overcome them, and they ought not to prove a barrier to their progress. A great responsibility rested on women, as they hold a vantage ground as the home-makers. They should make their homes so pure, so divine, so sweet in all its impulses that from them should flow forth rivers of influence, scattering fruithliners and greenness along their banks. Dr. Parker pronounced the prayer of dedication and Dr. Chickersing the benediction. Before separating Dr. King said there were several other speakers present, but owing to the late hour the company would have to wait to hear them speak until another building was dedicated.

A most interesting game of polo was played last evening at the skating rink between the Blues and Reds of the Washington Polo Club, and witnessed by a very large concourse of speciators recruited from our best circles. Among those present were some of the gentlemen of the Chinese legation, a large number of the New Raghand excursionists now solourning in the city, and many of the best-known society people, who seem to adhere to their custom of making the rink their object of increased attention upon the advent of the Lenten sason, in the absence of the wonted pleasures of the ball-room and other amusements. The game was very spirited, and elicited frequent applaines, being finally dotermined in favor of the Blues by a secre of $1 to 1. The teams were composed as follows: Reds—Gittings, captain and field; Whittington, McFalls, Whipple, Hatch, Murphy, and Sayder. Blues—Boyd, captain and field; Yarrow, B. Italian Opera. The season of Italian Opera which will be given Washingtonians next week at the National Theatre promises to be an exceedingly brilliant one. As the demand for boxes for the three nights has been very great, the management have decided not to sell them for any single performance. This not to sell them for any single performance. This troupe has been highly successful wherever they have sung this season, the sales for seats in Cincinnati for a week's performances, footing up to userly $120,000. The interest afready excited among musical people here is very great, and when the sale of seats commences this morning at Metzerott's music store it is believed that the demand will be very great. The company includes such artists as Miss Minnie Hauk, Madame Paolina Rossini, Mile. Corbianchi, Signors Campanini, Havelli, Galassi, Jiel Puchte, and Norars, and the chorus will number 120.

The Washington Cadets The Washington Cadets, one of Washington's crack colored companies, after their parade through the principal streets in honor of Washington's Birthday, marched to Tallmadge Hall, ington's Birthday, marched to Tailmadge Hall, where a choice programme of musical and literary selections was enjoyed. At the conclusion of the entertainment Captain Kelley drew up his command in line and gave a very fine exhibition drill, after which dancing was indulæed in. A large number of well-known and influential colored people were present and heartily enjoyed both the miscellaneous airractions presented, and tha pleasant incidents of the evening will long be remembered.

Jack Haverly's Mastodon Minstrels, forty in number, will appear at Ford's Opera-House next week. The merits of this organization are thor-oughly known here, and the excellence of the Only Leon, Billy Rice, Frank Cushman, the Dock-staders and other members of the troupe is well remembered. A swed ministro party always com-mands full houses in this city, and every under-taking with which Haverly is connected is meri-toriom. The saic of seats will commence to-day at the box office of the Opera-House.

New and Valuable Works.

CAPTURING A LOCOMOTIVE.

A History of Secret Service in the Late War. By Rev. William Pittenger. Himtrated. 12mo. Extra cloth. 81.50. "An account of one of the most adventurous and daying opioides of the way. The story is very interesting." - New Fork World.
"The whole story is one of wildest romance."

MEMORIES OF OLD FRIENDS.

Being Extracts from the Journals and Letters of Caroline Fox. of Penjertick, Cornwall, from 1850 to 187. Edited by Horace N. Pym. 12mo. Extra cloth. §1.50. "The work is eminently readable, unaffected and unpresentions, and is full of good things from the first page to the last. It is as charming and graceful a book as has fallen into our hands for a long time." Book. Charter.

"The charms of the book are all their own, and the like of which there are few, if any, examples in contemporary literature."—New Ferk Tores.

OPERAS: THEIR WRITERS AND THEIR PLOTS. By Notelrac, 16mo. Extra cloth. 75 cents.

"This little volume will supply a want long feth by the opera-going public. It gives in com-pact shape all the plots of the grapd operas now represented by the various Italian and English tours, and will undoubtedly be the means of giving opera-goers much destrable information." Philoidelphia Chronicle-Braids.

NOTES OF A PIANIST.

By Louis Moreau Gottschulk, Pianist and Com-poser. Preceded by a short Ricgraphical assetch. Edited by his sizer, Clara Gottschulk. Trans-lated from the French by Robert E. Peterson M. D. Crownevo. Extra-cloth, £29. ers' Westig.

"The volume is certainly very readable, especially that part which relates to his Americal fours." Evolum Globs. FAITH AND UNFAITH. A Novel. By the author of "Mrs. Geoffrey," "Phyllis," "Molly Bawn," &c. 12mo. Extra cloth. $1.25. Paper cover, 90 cents.

"This last work is fully equal to any which have preceded it. It is really an attractive romance, full of bright wit, fine descriptions, and well-sketched characters."—Hurthagian House "Whoever has enjoyed 'Mrs. Geoffrey,' or Phyllis' will not require urging to reed this as novel. In truth, this fresh story is more en-ruining and even more absorbing than 'Mrs coffrey,' From cover to cover this story is de ghttn.' "Ace Vork Home Journal.

MY LORD AND MY LADY.

"A really plquant and thoroughly interesting story of English life."—Boston Francript. "A romance of mote interest and power."— Chicago Frening Journal. JULIAN KARSLAKE'S SECRET. A Novel. By Mrs. John Hadder Needell, 12mc Extra cloth. $1.25. Paper cover. 60 cents. "A very well-written and a still better conceived story."- New Fork World.
